New Ultimatum From Bandits Threatens To Kill Americans

PEKING, May 19.—(By the United Press)—The situation arising from the kidnapping of four tourists by Chinese bandits near Liching two weeks ago was growing darker today. The government announced that further negotiations with bandits looking to release of the bandits seemed impossible. The bandits seem to be growing in numbers and that they demanded withdrawal of the army from all of Shantung. Granting such demands would leave outlaws masters of the entire province.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(By the United Press)—The United States and other powers today decided to send another note to Chinese demanding that troops surrounding Shantung bandits be withdrawn. It was announced at the state department today.

LONDON, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Marek Berube, recently released by the Shantung bandits, is journeying to Peking to present an ultimatum to the Chinese government on behalf of the bandits, says a Reuters dispatch from Tsaochwang. The ultimatum, according to the dispatch is that the government troops besieging the bandits be withdrawn by next Tuesday, failing in which, two of the Anglo-American captives will be killed.

Ready To Abandon Negotiations
PEKING, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Telegrams to the Chinese from Tsaochwang near which 15 foreign captives are held by the mountain outlaws of Shantung, indicate that the government representatives are on the point of abandoning the negotiations for the release of the hostages, because of the bandits' extravagant demands.

Revolt In Chinese Army
SHANGHAI, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—General Ho Fung-Yu, commander of the Chinese government troops surrounding the mountain retreats of the Shantung bandits, no longer is the dreaded foe of the outlaws, but through the present situation has "lost his face" and is accused by a revolt of his 10,000 soldiers, according to a private report unpublished in China, but received from an authoritative source.

McAdoo To Act Role Of Mediator

Harding's Home Town "Broke"

MARION, O., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding's home town is financially broke. With banks refusing to loan the city any more funds and no money available from county and state funds until next August, city council today placed the situation up to the mayor when it passed a motion directing him "to find ways and means to raise funds to pay policemen, firemen and city employees until January 1, 1924."

The city council recently passed an ordinance whereby all industries and businesses of the city would be required to pay a tax, and which, it was pointed out by sponsors of the ordinance, would provide sufficient funds to run the city until the next settlement with the county.

Mayor George Neely vetoed the ordinance, but offered no other solution of the city's financial plight.

Yesterday city banks loaned the city $25,000 to pay city employees their back salary, but announced this would be the last loan they would make the city until next August, the time of the semi-annual county and state settlement.

Charles Merkle, chairman of the finance committee, in a statement today declared that since "the mayor has vetoed the occupational tax ordinance, which is the only solution for raising money for operating expenses of the city, it is now up to the mayor to raise money to run the city."

Mr. Merkle declared that enrollment of city firemen and policemen and other employees or a cut in salaries would not solve the city's financial problem, as there was not sufficient funds even for this. It is pointed out by council members that the city has been borrowing from banks for the past year in anticipation of the semi-annual settlement, but that now a point has been reached where all the money to be received from the county and state will have to be used to pay outstanding notes and that after these are paid the city will still be without funds.

A number of months ago firemen worked for several months without their monthly pay until the city was able to borrow money to give them their back salaries.

Bandits—Ruhr—Russia—Sugar

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Staff Writer

NOBODY but Japan is getting any fun out of the kidnapping of Chinese brigands of about two dozen foreigners who were traveling north on the ultra-tony Shanghai-Peking express train and are still held to ransom in the wilds of Shantung.

Japan got possession of Shantung in the confusion of the World War. The war over, the powers, especially the United States said the province ought to be returned to the Chinese. Japan replied the Chinese government wouldn't get it, even if she did this; that a lot of outlaws would grab it instead.

The powers said she ought to do it anyway and Japan complied.

Now the bandits have given them an example of what they've got to expect.

Bandits' Terms Met
THE brigands' captives include 10 or 12 Americans.

Among them was Miss Lucy Aldrich, John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s sister-in-law, but she got away.

Broken Arm Didn't Stop Him

Must Return Fees

NEW YORK, May 19.—(By the United Press)—Dr. Frank McGowan, surgeon, was hurried from his seat by a collision as he was hurrying to the scene of an accident. When he recovered his senses he realized his right arm was fractured. With the aid of his chauffeur he set it and put it in splints. Then as he found that the ambulance was not damaged, he rushed on his way to help others.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(By the United Press)—William G. McAdoo hopes to become the harmonizer of the Democratic party. He and his friends, disclaiming personal ambition and raising the banner of party welfare will go to the next Democratic National Convention in the role of unifiers, compromisers of differences and counters of party unity. If these endeavors lead McAdoo to the presidency, so much the better. McAdoo has been here talking things over with political friends and with some friends who, while not committed to his presidential boom, are friendly to him. McAdoo's idea developed by these confidences is that the Democratic party will have a great opportunity in 1928 if it will do two things: These are:

ONE—Eliminate internal friction and get together.

TWO—Avoid rashness or extremism in its position on various issues.

Among these issues are prohibition and America's international relations. No wet plank and no league of nations plank will go into the Democratic platform if McAdoo prevails. He believes that the vast majority of Democrats will agree with him that taxation, transportation, immigration, the government's treatment of business and kindred problems are more vital to the American people and will be more helpful in advancing the Democratic party's fortunes than either the modification of the Volstead law or the League of Nations issue.

62 Victims Of School Disaster To Be Buried In One Grave

Entire Town Turns Out In Bathing Suits; Record Rain

BEAUMONT, TEXAS, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The greatest concentrated down-fall of rain in the United States was recorded here yesterday.

John Bender, in charge of the United States Weather Bureau Station here, declared the gauge showed 13.54 inches precipitation within three hours and one-half inch falling in two hours.

Between $500,000 and $750,000 property damage is estimated in a check-up today. Henry Franks, road inspector, declared the town was probably fatally injured. He slipped through a pool of burning oil when lightning struck two oil storage tanks of 65,000 barrels capacity each. One tank burned with a loss of $60,000.

Girls of the Southwestern Telephone Company went to work in their bathing suits but 3,000 telephones had gone out of commission and they all plunged home under the relentless shower.

The town folk turned out generally in bathing suits. Motor boats took the place of street cars in the low portions of the city. Street car lines went out early in the morning and no wheel turned for the rest of the day.

Harvey of the storm included $100,000 loss to the city through buckling of wood block pavements.

The lower streets were flooded and the water backed up into the business district. Police discontinued all traffic down town; all business doors were closed and Pearl street, the main thoroughfare, resembled a wood-yard struck by a tornado.

Aimed At American Officials

MEXICO CITY, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—President Obregon said today that he considered yesterday's bombing, which damaged the office of a Mexican attorney in the building that houses the United States consulate general was an effort to hinder the government in its recognition negotiations with the United States.

"What could it be but a profound displeasure?" he said. "I believe it concerns a maneuver against the government to hinder us in reaching a good understanding with the United States."

After 24 hours of investigation the municipal police and federal secret service agents early today had found no clue warranting an arrest in connection with the explosion.

Newspaper men learned from Guillermo Valenzuela, under secretary of the interior that Charles E. Warren and John Barton Payne, American members of the mixed recognition commission, received anonymous warnings soon after their arrival on May 11 that they must leave Mexico within 72 hours.

The guard of police and secret service men around the American embassy, consulate and the building in which the conference sessions are being held, has been greatly increased.

It became known today that on Thursday night the police discovered several men in the act of climbing the Washington monument in Denmark Plaza. The officers who pursued the men without success, expressed the opinion that the band planned to throw the statue from its pedestal.

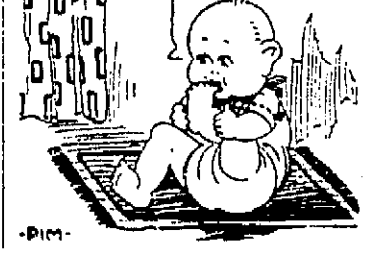

Court Case Over Drum

NEW YORK, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Samuel Hodgkinson, 80 years old who lives at Grantwood, N. Y., opposite Grant's Tomb across the Hudson, appeared in court yesterday to recover an old battle-scarred drum that he carried at the head of the 62nd Ohio Volunteer Infantry, during the Civil War, from Edward Kessler, to whom it was loaned last Memorial Day.

Kessler explained that there was some mistake and said he would return the drum at once. Unless he did so, Magistrate Sweetser, said he would issue a warrant for his arrest. Civil War veterans who filled the court room were pleased with the outcome of the case and Hodgkinson promised that he would beat the old drum again next Memorial Day.

Woman Companion Identified As Sister

(Copyright, 1923, By The United Press)
TEGUCIGALPA, HONDURAS, May 19.—(By the United Press)—Declaring she would rather die in Honduras than be taken back to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison, following Clara Phillips, convicted hammer slayer, was closely guarded, following her dramatic confession of her identity.

With arrival here of Under-Sheriff Biscailuse, from Los Angeles, the woman held here on suspicion of being the slayer of Mrs. Albert Meadows, and who escaped from a California jail after her conviction of that crime, broke down and admitted that she was none other than the woman sought for months, throughout the United States and Central America.

The American minister was in the cell when the confession was made.

The suspected woman had been held here since her arrest with two companions, one of whom, believed to be Jesse Carson, was also detained.

From the first she had declared she was not Mrs. Phillips. No one who could positively identify her was at hand. Sheriff Biscailuse recognized her at once.

"Well, you gave us a merry chase, Mrs. Phillips," he said.

She assented. "Yes, and we are going to take you back," he added.

Then for the first time the identity of Clara Phillips' woman companion was learned. She is the hammer slayer's sister.

During the night Mrs. Biscailuse said: "Elita May Weaver (the name by which Mrs. Phillips' sister was known in Los Angeles) that was pretty cute of you to ask to get Clara's clothes after she made her escape." Elita May Weaver refused to answer.

"Where was Clara when you asked for her clothes?" the sheriff asked.

"How did I know. I wanted to get them to keep for myself."

Upon this reply, the flood of emotion gave way and the suspected woman broke down and cried out she would never be taken back. She said she preferred to die here.

As a consequence she is closely guarded to prevent her from attempting suicide. The sheriff wants to take her away at once. Everything is ready for the return journey. She has escaped so often that most extraordinary measures have been taken to guard her. American Minister Morales will consult with the president of Honduras about having Clara turned over to the American authorities, pending arrival of extradition papers.

Elita May Weaver, known also as Mrs. Young, is not wanted in Los Angeles.

Clara's male companion, identified as Carson, is wanted, but the indictment by a grand jury has not been completed. It is considered possible Mrs. Phillips will be the only one of the three brought back to California.

French To Increase Ruhr Army

PARIS, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The army of occupation in the Ruhr is to be reinforced by another 15 or 20 thousand men, says Le Matin.

Bryan Refuses Chairmanship; Factional Fight Promised

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The action of William Jennings Bryan in refusing the chairmanship of the committee on home missions, tendered him by Dr. Charles Wishart, moderator, was the chief topic of discussion today among churchmen attending the 135th general assembly of the Presbyterian church. Many of the delegates expressed the opinion that Mr. Bryan's action is the forerunner of a fight between the liberals headed by Dr. Wishart and the fundamentalists led by Mr. Bryan.

Little action, however, is expected to develop today regarding the differences of the two leaders as the half day session will be given over to reports by various committees.

The collapse of the stairs threw scores into a struggling mass from which they were powerless to escape the swift advance of the flames. Most of the injured received their hurts in jumping from the second story windows.

No complete list of the injured had been compiled today. A partial list of the more seriously hurt gave ten persons, one T. M. Humphreys, was said to be in a critical condition. It is known that the seriously injured far exceeds that number.

Kershaw county officials have announced that there will be no inquest into the cause of the disaster having been definitely established by eye witnesses.

In denying reports that the school house had been condemned, Allen B. Marchison, county superintendent of education, stated that while it had been decided to abandon the use of the building and merge the school with two others next fall, the structure was one of the best in the county and was built only fifteen years ago.

Harvey And Harding Can't Agree; Envoy To Resign

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1923 By The Portsmouth Times)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Evidence begins to multiply that Ambassador George Harvey will not long remain an ambassador to Great Britain. The fact that the ambassador is a guest at the White House and that he has engaged return passage for London have given the impression that stories of personal differences between him and the president are baseless and that he is returning to his post after the customary vacation. But such is not the case.

The ambassador brought with him twenty trunks containing, it is said, many of his confidential papers. He is going back, it is true, to clean up his affairs on the other side but his intention on arriving here at least was to resign his post at the time most convenient to the president, The name most prominently mentioned as successor is that of Henry Fletcher, ambassador to Belgium, who went to South America recently as the head of the United States delegation to the Pan American conference at Santiago, Chile.

St. Mary's Entertainment Is Success

That the parents and friends of the grade pupils of St. Mary's school were interested in seeing something of their school music work was shown by the large attendance at the recital given in the auditorium of the Portsmouth high school last evening.

As would be expected the program demonstrated varying ability on the part of the children in piano and string music. Most of the audience was surprised to see the actual theoretical knowledge and musical performance of which the children were capable and surely most of them work is due mainly to the efforts of all the faculties which are of service in making efficient and happy men and women.

The success of the recital adds another triumph to St. Mary's musical efforts, and the excellence of the realize more than ever before that Sister Seraphim, the efficient musical instructor who has spared no pains to bring her pupils to the high degree of proficiency exhibited in their performance last evening. Sister Seraphim is a thorough musician and possesses the gift of imparting to others the appreciation of all that is best in the beautiful art. Another Fiery Cross Burned; This Time Near New Boston

The burning of a large fiery cross, emblem of the Ku Klux Klan, on the Reservoir Hill, overlooking New Boston, resulted in considerable discussion and excitement among the residents of that village Friday night.

The cross was discovered burning shortly after night check and rumors soon spread throughout the village that a meeting of the Klan was in progress and that more than a hundred candidates were initiated into the hooded band although no one claimed to have seen any men in the vicinity of the flaming cross, which was about twenty feet in height and could be seen for a considerable distance. Constable Dewey Parsons and others, out of mere curiosity climbed the steep hill to conduct an investigation but all they found on reaching the scene was the charred cross.

Many persons in the village viewed the burning as a prank while others took the burning emblem as a sure indication of the presence of the Klan organization in this section. It was further claimed last night that followers of the hooded band had declared that copies of "The Fiery Cross" Klan paper, will be placed on sale on the streets of Portsmouth and New Boston soon.

SCOUTS PULL REAL DEMONSTRATION; "ACCIDENT VICTIM" HANDLED IN PUBLIC

About five o'clock yesterday afternoon on Chillicothe street between Fourth and Fifth, Robert Polley was struck by a touring car. He fell to the street with considerable force and for a moment spectators held their breath lest the heavy wheels of the machine should pass over his body.

Women screamed. Men rushed to the assistance of the lad who appeared to be bleeding profusely about the head and was apparently unconscious. He was carried to the sidewalk. A crowd quickly collected. At this juncture two boy scouts appeared upon the scene. Taking off their coats they quickly made an improvised cot, placed the lad on the cot and carried him to the window of the store. A queer sight was seen as the boy scouts placed to take an injured person. The accident of course was "faked." The boy was uninjured. But it would have been difficult to have staged the accident more realistically. More than one person who happened to be on Chillicothe street at the time was "fooled" completely. The first aid demonstration was carried out in fine style by William Plummer and Richard Young of Troop 12. The "injured man" was also of that troop. The motorist was Scout Executive L. T. Henderson.

The "accident" was staged in connection with the window trimming contests which is a part of the first Annual Scout Show which is being held today at Mount Park. Various troops have displays at stores in Portsmouth and Sciotoville.

President Of Firm Flees, Is Short $300,000

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., May 19.—(By The Associated Press)—Whereabouts of Harry E. Petree, former president of the General Carbonic Gas Company, of New York City, who has been missing since May 10, was still a mystery today. It was said, at the office of Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for the company, who yesterday disclosed the absence of Petree after the discovery of a shortage of approximately $300,000 in his accounts. Petree was removed from office at a meeting of the stockholders on Wednesday in New York.

Representatives of the company said that after writing a confession, later found in his private office of the company, Petree told his wife he intended to go to Norfolk, Va., on a business trip.

Earlier in the week she had assigned at his request her interest in a life insurance policy on which he borrowed $12,000. From this, his business associates believe he is still living despite the reference made by him in his statement to Colonel Whittlessey of the Last Battalion, who committed suicide at sea.

Petree is alleged to have written "Whittlessey died right."

Petree has told investigators of the company that she has endorsed many of his notes and is left practically penniless.

Borah Says It's Coercion

ST. LOUIS, MO., May 19.—(By The Associated Press)—The proposal of President Harding for the United States to become a member of the court for international justice, was described as a scheme "to coerce the United States into the League of Nations" by United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, at a meeting under the auspices of a committee of business and professional men here last night.

Senator Borah insisted that the world court is an integral part of the League of Nations, and that the league is its foundation and that the proposal for the United States to enter it is for no other reason than to get the country into the league to bear the league's financial burdens.

Prediction that President Harding would be re-nominated by acclamation by the Republican national convention, "but upon an anti-trust platform," was made by the senator in an interview. He intimated that the international court proposal would be an issue in framing the Republican platform for the 1924 presidential election.

"If anybody thinks that he can win in 1924 by uprooting a system of foreign policies as old as the government itself, let him get up a political platform and try to carry the election," Senator Borah continued.

Desperado Is Sought
NORTH BAY, ONT., May 19.—(By The Associated Press)—The town of North Bay today had posted an offer of a $500 reward for the capture of Leo Rogers, who escaped from court last Wednesday after brandishing a fake pistol, and then having armed himself with a rifle and two automatic pistols killed one constable and wounded another, luring a posse to his hiding place through a telephone call.

The last heard of Rogers was that he was heading for Ottawa after a posse had for hours pursued him through the underbrush. All trains were being closely watched.

Thirteen constables scoured the woods between Corbett and North Bay last the desperado had doubled on his tracks.

Two residents of Corbett saw Rogers yesterday hiding behind a clump of trees, and he fired upon them. The pair dropped flat on their faces and returning his fire put him to flight.

Detectives found that Rogers had spent the previous night nesting in the branches of trees. Rogers had sworn to "get" the man he killed—Fred LeFebvre. Having done so, at the risk of recapture, it is believed he now is concentrating on efforts to escape.

SOCIETY

The Waverly Watchman of Thursday, May 17th, contained an interesting account of the sixty-first anniversary of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church of that city, which was fittingly celebrated on Wednesday at the parsonage.

A dollar social was also held in connection with the anniversary celebration, the proceeds being added to the pledge of the society for a rebuilding enterprise. A particularly honored guest at the meeting was Mrs. William D. Jones of Fourth street, familiarly known as "Aunt Lydia," who is the sole survivor of the original organizers of the society. Mrs. Jones, despite her many years, is remarkably well preserved and active and radiated her pleasure at the evidence of the prosperity and interest of the society which she assisted in bringing into being more than three score years ago.

Mrs. Jones was accompanied by Mrs. John T. Breece, a former member of the society, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Stahler Breece, a talented vocalist, who contributed a delightful number to the afternoon's program. Another interesting feature of the meeting was the reading of a beautifully prepared memorial by Mrs. Charles P. Gableman.

An important meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at their hall on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be a number of new members initiated and it is hoped that all the old members will be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Straus will receive their friends informally at their home, 1801 Diamonds avenue, on Monday evening, between the hours of eight and ten o'clock. No invitations will be issued other than through the press, and all friends of Mr. and Mrs. Straus will be cordially received during the hours named.

SUNDAY EVENING AT 7:30
MAY 20TH

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I will write you a few lines, thanking you for what you have done for me. I wrote you a letter a while back and told you that I feared I would have to be a hunchback and you told me to get a machine and see if I could get me a girl. But I didn't get it soon enough to get the one I wanted as she not married the same day I got my machine and I thought my heart was broken forever, but it is not for every girl in the country is after me since I got my machine. I have a machine and I thought my heart was broken forever, but it is not for every girl in the country is after me since I got my machine. I have a machine and I thought my heart was broken forever, but it is not for every girl in the country is after me since I got my machine.

I don't like to express my opinion of your wife without knowing more about you. I know some wives who go down street to get away from their nagging husbands, and perhaps your wife belongs to this class. I had a husband like some women I think I would go down street and forget to come back. Perhaps you belong to that army of "messy" husbands and it is useless to clean the house up while you are around. Some men are so careless about the house that it is no wonder that their wives feel straightening things up after them. Maybe she has decided to let things go for awhile and see if you will not take the hint and be a little bit more careful yourself. Why don't you surprise her by cleaning things up while she is away some afternoon. Get busy and make the dust fly.

Dear Dolly—I am a woman of 19 and my home is in Kentucky. I have been living in Portsmouth for some time and I am a hard working girl. Dolly, I have been married and divorced and my husband is married again. I was married when I was only eleven years of age and lived with my husband for five years but I did not love him. I was talked into marrying him against my will, and I cried and worried about it and I am

SOCIAL NEWS

Younger members of the social set were attracted to the beautiful Hill-top home of Mrs. Everett A. Drew, on Baled avenue, Friday afternoon. The response to invitations, issued by Mrs. Drew and Mrs. W. Earl Clayton to an attractive bridge party honoring Miss Helen Dowling, fiancée of Mr. Howard E. Bangham, was very large. The Drew home was seen to a striking advantage on this occasion with its decorations of pink Premier roses and pink and lavender sweet peas, which provided a pretty background for the charming group of guests assembled for the happy occasion.

The guests took hands for bridge at which Mrs. Eugene Brine scored high receiving a dainty favor. Mrs. Loren Hitchcock received a consolation prize. Later, a delicious pink and lavender ice course was served, with favors for each a corsage of candelas and valley lilies. ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton
MORE WORK FOR RAGSIES

The purple martins were particularly grateful.

The Twins helped the Ragsies to spring clean everything above the ground. Every house and apartment in the forest and meadow and orchard were scrubbed like ship-decks, and the fairy landlord, Mr. Tingaling, said he had never had such a good time: renting his places for the summer.

Mrs. Bluebird and Mrs. Robin began raising their families much earlier than usual, because they did not have to waste any previous days in cleaning up. The purple martins were particularly grateful because their hotel on top of the old clothes post in Farmer Brown's dooryard was washed both outside and in.

"Well," said kind little Mister Tatters, "I do believe we have done all we can on top of the ground."

"On top of the ground," repeated Nick. "Are there places under the ground to clean?"

Mister Tatters laughed. "Well, I should say so. Not to clean exactly, but there are other things to do. As Ragsy Land is under the ground, the most important work of the Ragsies is down there. What would you say, if I told you that we Ragsies help Farmer Brown's sass patch garden to grow. Also his potato patch and corn patch and all the other patches over there?"

"Do they call them patches, because Ragsies makes them?" laughed Naur, and everybody else laughed, too.

"May we help you in Ragsy Land?" asked Nick anxiously. He liked Mister Tatters and his little ragged fairy hand and he didn't wish to leave them just yet.

"Let me see if you both still have the magic root sandwiches on your noses," said Mister Tatters, squinting his eyes. "Yes, they're still there. All right, kiddies, come along. We'll all go down the magic steps again into Ragsy Land and see what we can do for Farmer Brown's crops."

So away they all trooped, dragging their brooms behind them. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

MRS. LINDQUIST TELLS WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Kansas City, Mo.—"I was left in a very serious condition after childbirth and no one thought I could ever be any better. Then came the 'Change of Life' and I was not prepared for what I had to suffer. I had to go to bed at times to be perfectly quiet as I could not even stoop down to pick anything from the floor. I did not suffer any pain, but I was decidedly nervous and could not sleep. For nearly two years I was this way, and the doctor was frank enough to tell me that he could do no more for me. Shortly after this I happened to see in a newspaper an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a few days the medicine was in the house and I had begun its use and I took it regularly until I was well. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to others when I have the opportunity."—Mrs. MAY LINDQUIST, 2314 Independence Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — THE FLYING HORSE

Now the goose would be in the lead of the race and, in the next instant, the flying horse was out in front, Jack and Flighty were being carried along so fast that the wind almost took their breath away. Suddenly Jack felt himself slipping and soon he was laughing on the horse's tail.

The little adventurer was pretty frightened for he was afraid he would lose his hold. Looking up to where Flighty was, Jack shouted, "Help me to get back, I can't hang on much longer." And then Jack saw that Flighty, too, was having trouble, he was clutching the horse's mane.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Agricultural Notes

EDITORIAL NOTE—The Times has arranged for an agricultural department in each issue of The Saturday Times. The articles will be written by an expert and we unhesitatingly advise their careful reading. They may be of great profit to you.

O. C. Croy, Boys' and Girls' Club specialist, Ohio State University, will be in the county Tuesday and Wednesday of next week assisting County Agent W. F. Gahn in arranging with the Pig Club leaders for the livestock judging work for Pig Club members this year. Training schools will be held previous to the County Fair, where elimination tests will be held in which the three highest will constitute a team, with one alternate, to represent Scioto County at the State Fair.

The team which represented Scioto County last year at the State Fair made a very creditable showing, being placed in seventh place with competition very keen representing some of the best livestock counties in the state. The team consisted of Irwin Jody, Ralph Groh and Joseph Woodall, with Rodney Harwood as alternate.

Mr. Croy will also check up on the program of work on file in the county agent's office, representing the various clubs in the county, to determine the clubs that are entitled to charters, which are issued by the State University. The clubs which have already filed their programs are: the United Pig Club, Jacob Hammerstein, leader; Willing Workers' Food Club, Mrs. Lucy R. Fullerton, leader; Haverhill Sewing Circle and Haverhill Food Club, Mrs. G. W. Selby, leader; and Pleasant Plains Thimble Club, Mrs. Mayfield Preston, leader.

Miss Catherine Spriggs recently enrolled in the Pleasant Plains Thimble club, bringing their total up to eight. Mrs. Preston reports that she has a good club and if they are beaten someone will have to hustle.

Mrs. Selby, leader of the Haverhill Sewing Club, reports one member as having made a club apron, and at their next meeting, on May 26th, two girls are to demonstrate the making of a club apron. Mrs. Selby is planning on holding her Food and Clothing Club meetings together, as several of the girls are in both clubs.

All club programs reported to the county agent's office indicate that all of the clubs expect to take part in the annual Farm Bureau and Grange picnic at the Fair Grounds, July 4th. Separate and distinct athletic activities will be conducted for club members.

Corn-Hog Ratio Is Around Ten to One
With corn so high, the average feeder is probably not realizing as high a margin of profit on hogs as has been the average for the past 10 years. Rural economists at the Ohio State University have reports from 19 Groene County farms which show that on the average it takes about 7 1/2 bushels of corn, in addition to other concentrates and pasture, to produce 100 pounds of pork.

Back in 1921, with corn down to 43 cents a bushel, it cost these same farmers $7.37 to make 100 pounds of pork. Today, with corn selling at 75 cents or more a bushel, at least $2 a hundred is added to this cost. Is the opinion of R. F. Taber, farm management extension specialist.

Profit in hogs depends largely on the relation of corn and pork prices. he continues. The average corn-hog ratio for the past 10 years has been such as let 100 pounds of pork pay for 11 1/4 bushels of corn. Today 100 pounds of pork buys about a bushel less than this average.

Hog prices move in cycles. They generally are high in April and May, low in June, high in July, August and September, and low through late October and the winter months. A big corn crop in 1921 and 1922, with a large hold-over into 1923, accounts, Mr. Taber thinks, for the corn-hog ratio being maintained as long as it was. He adds, too, that an increased public demand for pork helps explain why a profitable ratio has been maintained over an unusually long period.

The Cost o' Heart Balm

MRS. EM BEASLEY WAITIN' FER TH' JURY T' COME OUT.

How, Mrs. Em Beasley's lawyer make a jury believe she ever had her husband's love, or how she knows a wealthy widder has it, or how it kin be proved her husband ever had any love for her? It begin with, is what gits us. At the trial she uttered her husband's love at $500,000 an' her attorney insisted that she be paid that amount. Those who know th' Beasleys say that Mrs. Beasley never treated her husband, Al, as though she considered his love worth thirty cents, but we guess love immediately jumps in price th' moment it begins t' wander, an' then th' shootin' or suin' begins. We recall that Boston Moon fixed th' value o' his wife's affections at $75,000 an' finally took $125. Mrs. Gerlie Plunk's husband deserted her for a counter girl at th' Little Gem restaurant an' she didn't fix no price on his affection at all. She threw some vitrol on th' counter girl, but she never tried t' collect anything. Some times if a woman don't feel like goin' t' court about her husband's love she jest shoots him, an' then nobody gits it. Often a feller'll shoot his wife when she switches her love t' somebody that hain't got nothin', an' sometimes he tries t' git all he kin, rich clubmen an' th' like find it much cheaper an' th' less expensatin' t' quickly pick out another wife when their homes break up. There's no regular fixed price for heart balm. Some times if a husband don't care for money he'll jump in an' shed his wife an' all her folks he kin round up. Then he'll flee showin' that he kin live, an' wants t' live, without her. Joe Lark's first wife ran away with ole Abner Crow an' Joe sued an' got $3,500 damages, an' then his wife switched her love right back t' him an' they went t' housekeepin' till th' money was gone. But by that time his wife had grown bulky an' had lost her symmetry an' she finally skipped out with an elderly fruit tree agent. When Al Beasley heard that his wife figured that his love was worth $500,000 he thought some o' goin' back t' her, or at least o' lookin' around a little more before settlin' down with a woman much older than himself, feelin' that he might do better. It's hardly likely th' jury'll allow Mrs. Beasley $500,000 as her husband is a travelin' man an' has neuritis, but you can't tell what a country jury or a reform major'll do. We don't know what love's worth, but we do know that th' folks that are asked t' pay these awful prices never do it without exhaustin' ever' legal resource. We often wonder how a woman feels when th' feller that steals her love an' affection kicks on payin' for it. Copyright National Newspaper Service

AWARD PRIZES IN POSTER CONTEST

To Attend Commencement

Rev. Lewis N. Kayser will leave Monday for Chester, Pa., to attend the commencement exercises of Crozer Theological Seminary of that place. From there he will go to the Northern Baptist Convention at Atlantic City.

Over six hundred posters were submitted in the poster contest for Better Health Week, which closed yesterday among the school children of Portsmouth. This contest was directed under the personal supervision of Miss Kate Conins and the following committee had this portion of the health-week activities in charge: Mrs. W. A. Eichelberger, Mrs. Isabella Thomas, Mrs. C. W. Wendelken and Mrs. James F. McMullen.

Awarding the prizes proved to be very hard indeed, for every poster was good and showed a great deal of care and painstaking thought. In fact, so close was the race that no first prize was awarded, the prize for this being divided equally between two posters, Richard Zoelner, of the Eighth Grade, Union Building, and a joint poster made by Katherine Kelso, and Florence Warsaw, of Lincoln School, won first place.

There were four other prizes given. These were awarded to Jack Sperry, Brook (Isco, Vernon D. Barton and Phil Hicks.

The prize-winning posters are really worthy of attention, the poster designed by Richard Zoelner in a work of art and is the equal of many commercial posters upon the market. It shows three boys, one riding a velocipede and two running. A caution "Fresh air and exercise are essential for good health" is printed on the poster. The other prize winning first place is a very spectacular and effective display of healthful foods. The word "health" is written in raisins with a caption, "Have you had your iron today?" Below this appears the various foods and their use in the diet. These prize-winning posters will be put in a downtown store and remain on display over Sunday. Among the other posters submitted were several showing a great deal of originality, one especially by Caroline Haselbaker, which gives a valuable message to girls. Helen Taylor Eighth A. Union, gave a graphic demonstration of the road to health.

Many emphasize the need of mouth cleanliness, others advise the eating of foods particularly apples, which still others gave a general health message. Mrs. Huggins' School submitted the largest number of posters, while Miss Minnie Brookhart is to be congratulated for the good work done in her classes.

These posters have been put on display throughout the city.

Luque In Form; Giants Blanked, 7 To 0

NEW YORK, May 19.—(Cincinnati) Luque, the Cuban, shutting out the world's champions 7 to 0, was the first shutout suffered by the Giants this season. Bentley, New York's $50,000 pitcher, lost his third game in four starts. He pitched a fair game today but his wildness helped bring about his defeat. How the game was played:

First Inning—Barnes walked and the fans rejoiced for the genial and efficient Luque is a great favorite in Gotham. The runs were forced by Daubert, Frisch to Bancroft. Harper fouled. Bancroft, Daubert annexed second on a short passed ball, but perished there when Roush lined to Young. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning—Luque shut them over with such rapidity that Bancroft fanned, Groh fouled to Daubert and Fonseca grounded Frisch's grounder. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning—Again the first man up, Barnes, walked, but died stealing. Casey was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—Luque did the best he could, but in vain. Meusel, saved by Roush and Young, bounced one good for two bases off the noble frame of Barnes. Kelly walked at three unavailing at-bats, two perfect strikes called balls by Quigley, and O'Connell swung at one of them. But a $75,000 purchase needs some coddling. Snyder smashed one to Barnes and Young expired on the base lines. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning—Here many chances went glimmering in the crisis. Hargrave was safe when Kelly fouled his roller. Then Luque broke out of the maiden class with his first hit of the season, one so terrific that it almost felled Frisch. As Barnes fanned Hargrave's side third and Luque second, and this double larceny so astounded Frisch that in his mystification, he forgot to throw the ball anywhere. It was a bad moment for the 30 tied runners in the stands. Only a moment, however, for Daubert fanned and after Harper walked, Roush lifted the fatal foul that settled in Snyder's ample mitt. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Inning—Short was the session of the Giants. Bentley grounded to Daubert. Fonseca tossed out Bancroft and Groh waved his bat three, encountering nothing but air. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning—Luque lined to Roush. Groh popped to Fonseca and, after Frisch had doubled to left, Meusel whammed into the zone. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning—Luque bounced to Bancroft. Barnes flied to Young. Daubert walked. Harper singled to right. Roush singled to right, scoring Daubert and sending Harper to third. Boone doubled to right, scoring Harper. Bancroft threw out Fonseca. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning—Young walked. Kelly lined to Roush. O'Connell hit into a double play, Daubert to Caveney to Daubert. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning—Jannard went in as a substitute pitcher. Harper made a two base hit. Roush sacrificed. Boone made a two base hit. Harper scored. Boone was caught stealing. Fonseca flied out. New York failed to score. The box score:

A TRADE BALANCE

CANADA trades more with the rest of the world than she does with us.
As she lies next door to us, while she is remote from any other nation this situation appears to be considerably amiss. Yet a little thought may show it is not because of any prejudice she may have in dealing with this country. Her exports are in overwhelming part in grain and lumber. For these she can find but scant market across the line, hence she sends them abroad and naturally takes in partial pay, at least, the products of those countries that buy of her.
Further than that a considerable number of American industries have subsidiary plants in Canada and such sales as are made therefrom would not appear in the commerce between the two countries.

ALWAYS THE PIONEER

DISTRESSED by the accident, last week, on the Paris-London aerial line in which six persons were killed, the Cincinnati Times-Star gives forth the lamentation that people generally should not be permitted to patronize these so-called "regular lines", of which there is no such thing and is not going to be for many years to come. It thinks only those daring souls, who have the nerve and the skill to drive aerial crafts should be permitted to fool with them until they are brought to a reasonable degree of safety.

That is the kindly and humane view to take, but during human progress has never been made that way. Columbus had to have a crew to sail the boundless and mysterious ocean, the pioneers blazed the trails and braved the Indians, people patronized the first boat that steamed down the Hudson. They gave to every adventure the oil that drove it to success, the hope of gain. Scant, indeed, would be the progress of aeronautics, centuries removed from establishment on a commercial basis, if manufacturers and inventors were not encouraged to see early and huge profit in more rapid transportation.

TREES HAVE RIGHTS

THE right of trees to exist is guaranteed by the constitution.
Modern improvements have no prerogatives superior to those of nature.

Not in these exact words, but in language equivalent and to the conclusion stated does the New York supreme court hold in a case just passed in review by it.

A citizen of Woodhaven, a suburb of New York City, sought permit of the park commissioner to move a house bodily to another street and make improvements on its present site. Being refused, on the ground that the removal of the dwelling, in the manner desired, would entail the destruction of several beautiful trees along the street in front, the owner sought by court action to compel the issuance of the permit. He met with failure, the court holding that the matter of removal rested in the discretion of the street commissioner and his reason, that removal would lead to the destruction of beautiful shade and ornamental trees, was a most proper exercise of discretion.

IN THE RIGHT PLACE

M^R. JULIUS KLEIN, director of the Domestic and Foreign Bureau of Commerce, appears to be the right man in the right place.

Leastwise he takes a cheerful view of our trade relations with South American countries and has no grievances to offer thereover nor any offensive criticisms of the manners and customs of the people to set forth, in these respects being altogether different from the officials who have heretofore functioned in like positions.

As he sees it American representatives have made favorable impression with our natural friends to the south and the United States are being freely patronized for such of their products as those elms need. Americans have made investments in Peru, Chili and Bolivia alone to the extent of two or three billion dollars, building railroads and developing oil, coal and mineral mines. Their work has been done to the amazement and admiration of the natives, who besides, as a rule, have given most cordial welcome.

From all outwards indications there is no South American country with which our government and such of our people as have business that way are not most kindly received. Yes, there is one exception, Mexico. That is by no means all the fault of Mexico, or the failure of her people to appreciate our noble qualities. It is because rival American interests are in clash to exploit the resources of the land to their own gain, without regard for the prerogatives of the nation, the rights of others, or the interests of a people they would hold helpless.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY G. O. McINTIRE

NEW YORK, May 19—He had posed for ten years as a single man and the usual tragedy resulted—a double murder. New York's chief justice, as the bodies of the disilluminated girl and the Luthario were being removed from an office skyscraper.

The head of a private detective agency tells me he is now working on some 20 cases that have the same savor of domestic infidelity. It is the blizzard of New York that seems to inspire these liaisons. Each thinks he can get away with it. Then comes the Jolt.

It seems to me in other cities the domestic ties are more closely knit. The home interest is greater. Here, owing to housing space, married couples are forced to live in piano box apartments—a pigeon-hole existence. They eat around the corner and are neighborless. And they begin to drift.

The husband has no noonday contact with his home. He patronized the quick lunch, and if he lives in a suburb, he remains in town several nights a week rather than endure the monotony of domestic life. The dangerous age arrives and, if he is weak, he falls.

Sometimes he may be easy stages drift among those frivolous creatures whose daily anthem is "Dig a little deeper." If he has money, he is jockeyed into the position where he rents a little hotel on Park Avenue and if the blackmailers don't get him, his conscience does.

Then there are the astonishingly dumb who pose as single men. They think they are the blithe Romans when they are merely saps. A man who knows Broadway says men at the age of 45 are generally the ones who write foolish poems and gushy letters.

In more self-respecting communities errant husbands find the primrose path of dalliance filled with thorns. In New York there are many who cheer them on. There is open discussion of amours at the club.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

MURAL DECORATION

By Bertion Braley
"Bright wallpaper gives pep and zest to a house and those in it," Lucy Taylor to the National Wallpaper Manufacturers' Association.
PETER JONES was peaceful, Peter Jones was mild, He never did a single thing unspiced or wild; They "rode him" at the office, his good wife ruled his home, No thought or dream of rebellion had ever filled his dome; The crowd forever jostled him, the rough guys trampled on him, He meekly took the many ways that fortune wished upon him; A spineless sort of character, who talked in meekest tone, A humble individual was Mr. Peter Jones.

THE paperhanger came one day, and in the entrance hall Of Peter Jones' domicile he pasted on the wall Some brilliant yellow paper—the effect of which was such That when our hero saw it, he was pepped up pretty much. He read his wife the riot act, he filled her heart with fear, He belittled in a raucous voice, "By Heck, I'm master here!" And next day at the office, quite reversing all his way, He walked in on the manager and bluffed him for a raise!

THAT brilliant yellow paper made the other rooms seem dim, So Peter ordered paper which had color, light and vim. With scarlet and with purple, with cardinal and pink He papered all his domicile until it made you blink; And as the paperhangers came and pasted up each roll, Why, Peter grew more cocky and more arrogant of soul; He's managing the business now, his meekness all has fled, And you'll find his private office papered brilliantly in red.

Broadway has been thrilling to the dance of death. Long distance, jazz records have been broken each week. I saw one couple some time ago finishing the 27th hour of continuous fox trotting. They expected to keep it up for many more hours. He had the pained expression of a tired Marathon runner and there was a deadly ashen gray about his lips. His unshaven jaws hung open. She was like one in a trance and as they danced—or rather walked—they tried to exchange bits of repartee with those who stood on the sidelines cheering them on. The new jazz breaking mania is something that Broadway takes to. It gives the denizens an excuse for staying up all night. The same crowd that used to attend the six day bicycle race is present. Celebrities of the stage drop in from time to time. Sandwich and hot coffee merchants have a new field for their wares.

Two young New York girls are putting on a fashion show that costs $350 for each ticket of admission. It is held for those who deal in ladies' frocks. The originators of the idea go to Paris in advance of the season and bring back the latest creations. Each holder of a ticket is permitted to copy five styles. The price of admission is considered cheap because it saves the cost of sending designers to Paris.

A Sunday feature writer visited "The Poets," a club house for verse makers, and did not find a long-haired person present. Nor were there many wide brimmed soft hats or flowing black ties. And there may have been no real poets there. (Copyright 1923, By The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Doc Koko's KOLUM

There's a Difference

(From Orange Peel)
I've a girl that's small of build, She wears long skirts all neatly frilled, Her golden hair is slicked back tight— And at dancing she's a fright. She likes to sit at home o' nights To talk of French, and women's rights, Or play at bridge or poker, yet I love this girl of mine so slow; She'll make a dandy wife, y' know— WHEN I GRADUATE!

Now Reggie's pet is tall and slender And speaks to him in accents tender; Her raven hair is bobbed and curly, Her teeth 'neath rosy lips are purely, She wears short skirts and rolls her hips—

Things taught of touching for a loan, She drinks and smokes and bets and dances, And vamps the boys with wicked glances. She likes to eat and romp and play, I'd change for her most any day— WHILE I'M IN COLLEGE!

Too Much of a Test
Bill—"Just happened to run into an old friend down town."
Phil—"Was he glad to see you?"
Bill—"You bet not, I smashed his whole right fender."—Widow.

Speaking of Makeups
First Maiden Lady—"Do you prefer the Grecian school of ballet dancing to the Russian?"
Second M. L.—"Well, my dear, the Russians at least wear beads."—Puppet.

Nothing Here
He papered all his domicile until it made you blink; And as the paperhangers came and pasted up each roll, Why, Peter grew more cocky and more arrogant of soul; He's managing the business now, his meekness all has fled, And you'll find his private office papered brilliantly in red.

Not So Very Good Skater
He—"Where did you do most of your skating when you learned?"
She—"I think you're horrid!"—Proth.

THE CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE—BY BRIGGS

The Barber Question

"I want a shave," said the determined looking man as he dropped into the barber's chair. "I don't want a haircut nor a shampoo. Neither do I want any lay run, hair tonic, hot towels or face massage. Just a plain shave with no trimmings. Do you understand that?"
"Yes, sir," said the barber. "Will you have some lather on your face, sir?"

Why Bobbed Hair

It'll be hot these summer days. Girls won't know what to wear. There's nothing more they can leave off— And so they bob their hair.

No Doubt

"What did Helen say when you turned out the light and kissed her?"
"She said that she felt as if she never wanted to see my face again."—Jester.

She Couldn't Get Away From It

He—"Sweetheart, I know now that you love me."
She—"What gives you that impression?"
He (glibly)—"I love you, and therefore I am a lover. All the world loves a lover, and since you are all the world to me, well—you love me."
She—"Oh!! George, kiss me!"—Voo Doo.

We'll Say

"Jack says he never kissed a single girl in all his life."
"Mighty dangerous business!"—Virginia Reel.
At the Party
"They say Jones puts every cent he earns on his wife's back."
"Business must be rotten!"—Juggler.

A Lucky Strike

"Seen Howard recently?"
"Yes."
"What's he doing?"
"Writing plays."
"What? That fellow writing plays?"
"Yes, he's chalking down scores in a bowling alley."
